BEN TIJANIC

web developer/designer

I specialize in full-stack development. With over two decades of programming experience, I shifted my focus to web development in 2016. My forte lies in crafting speedy and efficient websites, web apps, and back-end web applications. I have a passion for designing novel concepts and exploring emerging technologies.

Driven by a lifelong passion for technology and design, I thrive on creating intuitive and visually appealing websites and web applications. There is a profound sense of fulfillment in knowing that the digital experiences I craft elicit positive engagement from users. This passion fuels my dedication and commitment to producing exceptional work in the field of web development.
